Suzuki students perform

The small musician on the right is one of the Suzuki violin and cello students enrolled in Capilano College's program. (Yes, we lifted the photo from the North Shore News--we aren't proud.) The students put on a concert at West Van. United Church last week and on May 14 children from all over B.C. will be performing in a special concert at the Orpheum. The kids in the Suzuki program range in age from 4 to 9 and are taught by listening and imitation with assistance and involvement from their parents. For more information call the people at Credit Free (local 323) who administer the program.

Best dressed, best in West

Well, the women's team didn't win the national Volleyball Championship, but as Coach Joe Iacobellis points out, they did tremendously well to get there, and their rank is 7th out of the approximately 80 teams in Canada. Karen Funk, Shannon Macey, Pam Nelson, Cathy Oberhoffner, Dawn Redahl, Jan Simmons, Jacqui Turner and Leah Ellis spent last weekend in Toronto at the Volleyball finals, and Joe says that the experience they gained and their exchange with the other athletes was "Just excellent!" Voted the best dressed team, all the members of the Volleyball team have expressed interest in coming back next year and going on to challenge the champions in next year's national in Montreal. And all this from a team at a college that doesn't even have a gym! When one considers that they, practising a couple of times a week for the last few months went up against teams that practice daily almost year-round, you can get an idea of the quality of our team. Special congratulations must go to Dawn Redahl who was voted onto the All Canadian All Star Volleyball Team, Shannon Macey who made the All Provincial All Star team and Leah Ellis, who as well as playing on our championship volleyball team, played basketball this fall and made the All Canadian All Star Basketball Team. Congratulations all. We'll be watching for you next year.

COLLEGE WINS AWARD

The United Way has presented Capilano College with a Merit Award for our contribution to this year's campaign! And this from a College with a previously dismal record. Much of the credit must go to Averil McCreadie and her enthusiastic efforts. But, to quote the letter from Gordon F. MacFarlane, General Campaign Manager,

"I am pleased to present a Merit Award to your employees in recognition of their contribution to the United Way's 1982 Campaign. This Award is received by employee groups who have achieved 20% of their dollar potential. Potential is calculated by multiplying the day's pay as provided in the Standard Industrial Classification Guide by the total number of employees.

The support we are receiving from employee groups such as yours will assist us in meeting the needs of the 85 United Way agencies.

Thank you for your support and leadership."

Cap Ads won by Dogwood

Congratulations to "Studebaker", the group of Dogwood students who won this year's

Cap Ads contest. This was the seventh annual advertising campaign contest of the Business Management department which took place on Monday afternoon. Groups of students present advertising campaigns and are judged by a panel of judges that includes representatives of lower mainland businesses and advertising agencies. This year's winners presented an advertising campaign for a nightclub called Studebaker proposed for Frank Baker's restaurant at Taylor Way and Marine Drive. Again, congrats.

Commission meets here

As many of you may recall, Vander Zalm appointed a Commission on School District Administrative Costs on February 1 to look into possible cost savings in school district operations. They are holding public hearings across the province and on Monday, April 11 at 7:30 pm they will be here in room A117 to hear submissions from the public. The press release from the Ministry goes on as follows: "Mark Sager, 25, a West Vancouver businessman and former chairman of the West Vancouver School Board, and Allan Stables, 58, former superintendent of schools in Greater Victoria, have until Sept. 1 to submit a report to the Minister. They are examining administration at the school district and regional level, to see whether alternative ways of organizing school district administrative procedures would provide improved operation. Where possible, they will recommend ways for more efficient and cost effective delivery of service." Citizens can also submit written briefs to the Commission—the deadline for those is May 15.

Any artists out there?

If you are an artist working in 2-D you may be interested in entering your paintings in the North Van. Community Arts Council Picture Loan Show Jurying on Sat. April 23. Without going into the details, which are numerous, the Picture Loan Show is held in the Upper Galleries of Presentation House on the second Thursday of each month from 7 to 8:30 pm. Attending members of the public rent the pictures and also buy them. If you didn't get this straight, or did and want more information call Peggy Umback 987-9525, or Ella Parkinson at the North Vancouver Arts Council office, 988-6844.

Mysterious bunny thanked Claire Day and the rest of the members of the Typing Pool would like to thank the mysterious Easter Bunny who dropped off an early gift. The personalized chocolate eggs were much appreciated.

In the gallery

Setsuko Piroche's work is in the Gallery now and will be there until April 5 for those of you who haven't yet had a chance to look in. Setsuko studied painting in Japan, travelled to India and Australia and immigrated to Canada in 1968. After having studied Textile and Ceramics, she has woven tapestries and has become known for her textile sculptures and metallic fibre constructions. She has participated in many exhibitions in Canada and abroad, most recently in Canada Mikrokosmos in London.
